Major Eisenhardt Visits District

A banquet was tendered Major and Mrs. Jan Eisenhardt and Jos. Ross, the former Dominion Director of Physical Fitness in the Dominion, and the latter Provincial Chairman of the Committee, in the State House last Friday night, with about 50 present representing the leaders of the Mutuals, the Bishopric of the Raymond Ward, Scout Leaders, the Mond-Warrior Scout leaders, the State Presidency, and representatives of the service Clubs and some of her. The splendid meal was prepared and served by Mrs. Irene Bowdon.

Pres. T. Geo. Wood was chairman of the meeting, and after the meal a short sing was enjoyed and then Pres. Wood made a few remarks explaining the Youth program of the Church and the fact that ever since the organization of the Church whole some recreation had been fostered and encouraged and crossing the plains the day's labors and troubles were climaxed by an hour of dancing and singing round the camp fire. The L.D.S. Church had always had a youth betterment program, and when the Boy Scout movement was introduced the L.D.S. Church was one of the first to embrace it and since then it has been an integral part of the training of all boys in the programs of the Church.

The guests were then introduced and Jos. Ross the Provincial Chairman expressed his pleasure at being present and said he had been anxious to have Major Eisenhardt visit Southern Alberta and see just what the L.D.S. communities were offering their boys and girls, and men and women in physical fitness program. Speaking of plans in the Province he said that in the future the program was somewhat changed as follows:

In the future there would be no age limit on Physical Fitness work, anyone may join the classes.

Instructors may undertake out of school periods or classes.

Hikes may be arranged and supervised as part of the Physical Fitness program.

Juveniles may be coached in all lines of sports and the instructor paid for such work.

Drama, music, handicraft and other arts may be taught, if desired and recognized as part of the P.F. program.

Commencing July 17th, and for one week, a school for playground supervisors will be held in Calgary. High school girls, or others may be nominated by communities with playgrounds and sent to attend this school and the only cost to students will be transportation to Calgary and return.

Mrs. Eisenhardt was introduced and expressed her pleasure at being present.

Major Eisenhardt spoke of the problem of physical and cultural recreation in rural areas and stated that he had come to Raymond to learn and not to endeavor to teach in these matters. He was delighted with what he had seen in Cardston, Magrath, Lethbridge and Raymond in the way of building and facilities for Youth Training and Physical Fitness, and he hoped it would be made use of. The National Physical Fitness Act became law this year and was designed to fill a great need, but it would take a great deal of organization to put it into effect. The National Council is made up of representatives from each province, and a program will be mapped out that will fill our nation's need. 40 p.c. of Canadians when examined were found unfit for military service, which proved the need of a national program to improve our health and well being. Most of Europe had been using physical fitness programs for 25 years, and were consequently much ahead of us. He complimented the L.D.S. Church on its firm stand in abstention from tea, coffee, liquor and tobacco and hoped this example would grow.

Matrimony brought Ada Warren from New York to Canada. She is heard in "Dreaming Time" on the CBC's Dominion Network, Wednesday (9:30 p.m.). She began her musical career on Broadway with Mor-ton Downey and has travelled as far as Brazil. Montreal is now her home.

STUDENT DAY MONDAY

NEWS NOTES

Miss Katherine Maxman is on holiday at present from the Treasury Branch, starting last Monday.

Miss Vonda Smith is the new stenographer at the Treasury Branch who started her duties there the first of this week.

Haying was in full swing at this week-end. Some hay had been cut two weeks before it dried out enough to haul. However the weather was cool enough during that time that it was still very good hay.

Ronald Christensen of the United States Army has been promoted to Private First Class in a recent despatch from his headquarters. He is a clerk typist in the personnel division. While in England he has enjoyed a trip through England, Scotland and Ireland by convoy.

The day is here and the Big Stampede is on. This is your day. Your opportunity to admit to keeping alive the old west and to properly observe Dominion Day. Come and bring your friends. It may be your only holiday this summer.

To date most of our recreation has been directed by amateurs, and while their efforts have been very praiseworthy, he felt trained leaders would be able to better direct recreation and each and encourage people in what they were able and anxious to do. With our training we need higher standards in neatness of personal appearance, good appearing and well kept buildings and good habits in our sleeping, walking and so on. It may take 5 or 6 years to see any results from our program, but the youth of today and future generations will be greatly benefitted. Most of Europe had been using physical fitness programs for 25 years, and were consequently much ahead of us.

Jus. H. Walker, M.L.A. expressed the appreciation of the gathering for the visit of these officials and their fine talk and pledged the wholehearted support of the community to this program.

Dominion Day

As we pause again in the rush of our everyday life to mark our national birthday, we may well be proud of Canada's part in the present struggle for freedom and democracy. As citizens of this great Dominion which stretches from the ocean to ocean across the beautiful prairies to the forests and orchards of British Columbia and the Maritimes we have risen as one people to meet the demands for more and more of raw products, manufactured goods, foods, clothing, money and the other sinews of war to place in the hands of our men and women in the armed services plenty of the heat to maintain their good health, their peace of mind, their physical and mental welfare and above all their ability to give of their best in the service of King and Country.

It has been no mean feat that with a population of less than eleven million people, engaged largely in agriculture and lumbering, we should do our hand with manufacturing plants by the hundreds, that we should tool our peace time industries into war time producers that we should produce more and more of all products of farm and garden and dairy to meet the needs of the hour. It is worthy of mention that we should have been chosen as the site of the British Commonwealth Air Training program, and that so many man hours should have gone into the erection of Schools of various types for the training of men from all parts of the Empire.

Then, added to all this, our enlistments in the various branches of the service of both men and women, has equalled that of any of the empires of the Commonwealth unless it be England herself and the records of our men in actual combat and of the women in the supporting roles of drivers, nurses, canteen workers, and so on should make all of us very proud to be a Canadian and to claim friendship and acquaintance with those who represent us.

We have a great future and a great responsibility. These men and boys, women and girls, who are in the front lines offering all they have, even their lives, are going to expect to return to a Canada and a people who will have planned and prepared to receive them. They are going to expect rehabilitation into our national life and an opportunity to enjoy the fruits of that freedom, opportunity and democratic life for which they have fought so long and so well. We are not going to attempt to say require war and bloodshed to unite how this should be accomplished, people in a single purpose it seems to us we all know that it must be to be the truth. Be that as it may, done. While our boys have been as the day of victory and peace

"S" Day

"S" DAY

DO YOU KNOW that 25c. buys 12 bullets for the Armed Services?

DO YOU KNOW that the daily consumption of ammunition of all kinds in this war has exceeded the highest weekly consumption in the last war?

DO YOU KNOW that the more we use of it and the heavier the fire power of our soldiers, sailors and airmen, the more lives we are saving for a triumphant return home?

DO YOU KNOW that the cost of rifle ammunition to the Canadian Government is one of the lowest of any of the Allied Nations?

If you DO know all this think how important your 25c. War Savings Stamp purchases will be to your self, to Canada and to the Armed Services on "S" Day which is to be held on June 30th. Let's all get on the band wagon and do ourselves a favour by being "Bullet Buyers."

In support of this War Savings Stamp Day on June 30th Dr. F. G. McNally, Deputy Minister of Education, is making a provincial-wide broadcast from 2:45 to 3:00 on Thursday, June 29th, to the school children of Alberta. Everybody in the Province is invited to listen to Dr. McNally at this time.

A light rain fell over the district Monday continuing into the night. It was not heavy at any time and was rather streaked, some areas getting considerably more than others. Fields and gardens were freshened up again and look fine. When the days are warm the gardens certainly grow fast.

TWO EMPIRE IDEAS

(Editorial from the New York Times,
May 7th, 1944)

The meeting of the British Dominion Prime Ministers in London has again directed attention to the nature and construction of what Mr. Churchill has designated as the "British Empire and Commonwealth." A constant object of envy or attack, it has weathered all vicissitudes and survived every crisis including, it is now assured, the latest and gravest crisis in its existence—the present war. It may no longer be able to claim pre-eminence in a world in which the United States and Russia are bound to play at least equal roles. But it is still a gigantic Power, and, as Mr. Churchill emphasized recently and as the London Conference demonstrates, it is more united within itself than ever before.

This raises the question as to the sources of its strength and the nature of the ties that bind its far-flung territories into an entity able to act as one Great Power. The most striking feature in any answer to that question is that however large its material resources and however valiant the breed of men that lives in it, its main source of both stability and strength must be sought in the sphere of the moral imperativeness which in its own particular case may be said to comprise two main factors: the consent of the governed within the Empire and Commonwealth, and the acceptance and support of a large part of the world outside of it, most especially the United States.

Born as a late-comer in an age of imperialism and expansion, and reaching its full size more by accident than by design, it prospered when other empires shrank, and today has become the freest and most liberal international organization in history. Those of its members who developed a separate nationhood have become independent nations, maintaining with the motherland a traditional but now wholly voluntary association; those who still fall short of such a development have every opportunity for it; and these too small or too undeveloped to stand on their own feet still prefer British rule to any other. The presence at the London conference of Premier Smuts of South Africa is dramatic testimony of both the flexibility of the British Empire and its capacity for inspiring loyalty, even in former enemies.

At the same time it is not amiss to point out that this development was a consequence of the American Revolution, which, while separating the United States from the British Empire also showed the rulers of the Empire the limitations of mere power and the wisdom of government by the consent of the governed. For this revolution inspired that elastic and soft-gloved policy which not only permitted other Empire members to develop into self-governing Dominions but also avoided any oppressive conduct toward the rest of the world at a time when British power was adequate for it. It was this policy which quickly reconciled America and Great Britain and formed that Anglo-American community with which every Power in the world must henceforth reckon. In any crisis, it was this policy also which made the British Empire the hope of every nation struggling for its freedom. And it is this policy and this policy alone, which can and will assure the Empire's permanence.

But the nature of the British Empire is perhaps best illustrated by a contrast with the most ambitious empire of our time—that of Nazi Germany. Conceived in pride and hate, it was based on a conquest of the world in which some races were to be exterminated entirely and in which all nations, including those with age-old national cultures and traditions, were to be denationalized or degraded to drawers of water and hewers of wood for a German master race composed of all men of "German blood" throughout the world but ruled by an autocratic Führer in Berlin. To the Nazis this project appeared to be merely an imitation of what they conceived to be the "world rule" of the English-speaking community, with this difference, as they explained, that while the British Empire and the larger Anglo-American community were merely accidental, theirs would be a "planned empire" which would exclude all fortuitous circumstances and would therefore last for a thousand years. They knew nothing of the imperativeness which made and saved and maintained the British Empire and the Anglo-American community. But it is perhaps well to recall these same imperativeness for the benefit of those who are now planning wider world organizations and international empires for the maintenance of

FAMILY ALLOWANCES MAY BE PAID ABOUT JULY, 1945

Ottawa, June 21. Family allowances proposed by the federal government would become effective July 1, 1945, and would range from $5 to $8 a month depending on the age of children, Prime Minister King revealed today in a resolution to the bill placed on the commons.

The resolution proposed that allowances be paid from that date for each child in Canada under 16 years of age on the following scale:

$5 a month for each child less than six years old;
$6 a month for each child of six or more but less than 10;
$7 a month for each child of 10 or more but less than 13;
$8 a month for each child of 13 years but less than 16 years old.

The resolution provides that the rates should be reduced by $1 a month in respect of the fifth child by $2 in respect of the sixth and seventh and by $3 in respect of the eighth and additional children. It also provides that the income tax reduction allowable for children should be reduced "by an appropriate amount based upon the family allowance payable under said measure."

OATS, BARLEY PRICES

Government policy in regard to oats and barley for the 1944-45 season will be the same as in 1943-44. Minimum prices will be guaranteed on the same basis as now, and equalization funds will again operate. Advance payments of 10 cents per bushel on oats and 15 cents per bushel on barley will be made at the time of delivery by the growers, over and above the market prices of these grains.

KILLING WILD OATS

Infestation of wild oats has been very bad this spring. The provincial supervisor of weed control says that summerfallowing is not the best method of combating wild oats. He advises early cultivation of the land and then seeding it with green feed or with a short season crop such as Olli barley. This method kills two crops of wild oats in one season. After the barley or green feed is harvested the land should be cultivated to permit the germination of as many wild oats as possible so that they may be killed by the frost.

TEMPTATION

Water Supplies, Etc.

Once more, we are pleased to announce that The North-West Line Elevators Association will be represented on the B class fair circuit by an agricultural exhibit.

No effort is spared to make the exhibit interesting, instructive and attractive. The main theme is always developed around an important agricultural problem. This year, farm water supply is being featured. In addition, side exhibits have been prepared on wheat stem sawfly, oil seed by-products, industrial uses of wheat and barley, seed germination and disease, etc.

It is a pleasure to acknowledge the generous assistance of officials of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, particularly those engaged in P.F.R.A. work. Model dugouts and dams have been prepared so that proper construction and position in relation to farm buildings and fields can be illustrated. Additional detail is provided in a pamphlet which will be available to all visitors.

Everett Robertson, B.S.A., will accompany the exhibits as agricultural adviser. One of his chief duties will be to redirect enquiries to the proper government and university authorities. This service has been popular with farmers in past years, and they are assured of the usual welcome this year.

The exhibit will be displayed at the following fairs: — Swift Current, Estevan, Moose Jaw, Calgary, Yorkton, Melfort, Lloydminster, Vermilion, Vegreville, Red Deer, North Battleford and Prince Albert

CURLED TOE PARALYSIS OF POULTRY

Poultrymen are warned by C. W. Traves, Poultry Commissioner, to be on the watch for curled toe paralysis. This is not a disease, but a feed condition. Without actual examination it is difficult to distinguish between curled toe paralysis which is caused by a lack of vitamin G, and Perosis, commonly called "slipped tendon," due to a lack of the mineral manganese.

With Perosis there is a decided swelling at the hock joints but the toes do not curl in. With curled toe paralysis there is no swelling at the hock joints but the toes curl in to such an extent that the birds are unable to stand.

There has been a decided deficiency in the supply of milk powder and it is possible that growing chicks may not be receiving enough milk in their feed. Where this condition is noticed chicks should immediately be given an extra 5 per cent milk powder in the starter or all the skim milk they can drink. The ground oats in the mash should also be doubled in order to supply manganese. A liberal supply of green feed should be made available in this way, the growing birds will receive the required amount of feed and vitamins to overcome these two deficiencies.

BRITISH CHEESE RATION

Early in April of this year
the ordinary cheese ration in Britain was reduced to 2 ounces per person per week. Formerly it was 3 ounces. The cheese allowance for special classes engaged in hard manual work remains at 12 ounces per week,
and the weekly ration for seamen at 4 ounces a week has not been changed.

It has been estimated that one urban householder in every seven in Canada had a wartime garden in 1943. The 209,200 urban gardens in 1943 represents a 15 per cent increase over gardens planted in 1942, and about 24 per cent more than in 1940.

EFFECTIVE CONTROL OF POTATO BEETLE

Like the early bird that catches the worm, potato beetles
are usually waiting in the field for the new crop of potatoes to appear above ground. They lay their eggs on the underside of the leaves, and when the yellow egg masses begin to hatch it is the signal to start control measures at once either by spraying or dusting.

The best and cheapest poison
to use is calcium arsenate, states Alan G. Dustan, Division of Entomology, Dominion Department of Agriculture. Use it at the rate of 1 1/2 to 2 lb. in 40
gallons of Bordeaux mixture (copper sulphate 4 lb., lime 4 lb., water 40 gallons) If the poison
is used in water alone, add 2 lb 3 lb. of hydrated lime to each 40 gallons. Should arsenate of lead or Paris green be preferred as a poison, 2 to 3 lb. of the arsenate of lead and 1/2 to 1 lb. of Paris green may be substituted for each 40 gallons of spray.

Growers who prefer to apply
the poison in powder form should use a dust composed of one part of calcium arsenate to 8 parts of hydrated lime. Best results are obtained if the application is made in the early morning or late evening when the vines are wet with dew and the air is calm.

In spraying potatoes, the poison should always be mixed with Bordeaux spray, because the Bordeaux is not only a valuable fungicide but repels the attacks of flea beetles, leaf hoppers, and other destructive insects. Two or three applications in a season should give ample protection from all insects when applied thoroughly and at the proper time, that is, at once when the new damage becomes evident. Both sides of the leaves, the upper and the lower,
should be sprayed abundantly.
When the plants are small, 50
to 75 gallons per acre and 100
to 120 gallons when the plants are fully grown are not too much at each application.

SPRAY TO KEEP DOGS AND CATS FROM SHRUBS

Flowers and shrubs in the front garden and ornamental plants on front porches and the corner posts of porches may be protected against damage by dogs & cats by the simple use of a dilute nicotine spray. The spray is harmless but its smell is very offensive to cats and dogs, even when applied so thinly that persons are unaware of its presence.

The spray evaporates and should be renewed after rain.
In good weather spraying every two weeks is sufficient. The name of the material is nicotine sulphate and it may be bought at any seed or drug store. The spray is prepared by mixing
one-half teaspoonful of the nicotine sulphate with one gallon of water, which makes the mixture strong enough for all ordinary circumstances.
